

Argentina In Hands Of New Pro-Ally Trio After Revolt

(By The Associated Press)
Buenos Aires, June 5—A military council headed by pro-ally Gen. Arturo Rawson assumed governmental powers today in Argentina, last American state with diplomatic ties to the Axis, after overthrowing the isolationist Castillo regime in a lightning revolt, and declaring martial law in the country.

The international significance of yesterday's bold stroke by Gen. Rawson and other military leaders in forcing President Ramon Castillo to flee to an Argentine warship still was not clear, but there were these factors:

- "American Union"
1. One of the first acts of the provisional government was the arrest of a prominent pro-Axis nationalist, Manuel Fresco.
 2. One of several proclamations said to have been issued by Rawson pledged Argentina's cooperation in a "true American union of collaboration and compliance with our international pacts."
 3. Pro-Democratic newspapers published an announcement, said to emanate from the revolutionaries, pledging compliance with a resolution adopted by the conference of foreign ministers at Rio de Janeiro recommending that all American republics break with the Axis. These newspapers also called the revolt "democratic in character."

Some reports, however, indicated the objectives of the revolution were largely domestic.

The revolt, with Gen. Rawson leading some 7,000 troops into Buenos Aires yesterday and taking control of the governmental offices abandoned by the fleeing President Castillo, occurred on the day the Conservatives were to name a candidate to succeed Castillo.

Accuses Castillo

Rawson himself, addressing a crowd beneath the government house balcony, said his movement was "without any political leaning" and was aimed at guaranteeing "the safety of our people and our nation" because the Castillo administration had failed to respect "our institutions and culture."

Gen. Pedro Ramirez, who had been Castillo's war minister; Gen. Juan Giovannelli, an unidentified Naval officer, and Gen. Rawson were said to comprise the military junta now fulfilling the function of government.

Under Rawson's signature martial law was declared late yesterday throughout the country and a legal holiday was called for today, freeing all governmental office employees from the need of reporting for work.

Meanwhile, from the Naval gunboat Drummond cruising about the wide Rio de la Plata estuary President Castillo issued a stream of statements defying the insurgents and asserting that he and his ministers accompanying him still constituted the legal government.

15 Are Killed

Only one major case of bloodshed marked the revolt. One soldier and 14 civilians were reported killed. The civilians were aboard a bus caught in a cross-fire between the troops and forces which put up a brief show of resistance at the Naval engineering school in the suburbs.

Some rioting occurred in and around the Plaza de Mayo near the government house with the crowds smashing and burning many buses and trolley cars. Their fire was reported directed against Castillo whom they blamed as the instigator of a transportation monopoly in Buenos Aires.

Led by Gen. Rawson, a 50-year-old cavalry commander, the troops moved from their barracks about 15 miles outside the city before dawn yesterday. Their progress through the city streets was cheered by shouts of "long live democracy."

STRAWBERRIES ARE PLENTIFUL

Home-grown strawberries filled the market stands here this morning and sold at most stands at 30 cents a quart box. A few hucksters asked 35 cents a box for graded berries of larger sizes.

Fresh green vegetables were plentiful. Spinach sold for eight cents a box and two boxes for 15 cents. Asparagus was 20 and 25 cents a bunch; rhubarb, 10 cents a bunch; onions, five and 10 cents per bunch; lettuce, 10 cents a quart box, and radishes, five cents a bunch.

Eggs continued at 35 to 40 cents a dozen and country butter sold for 53 cents a pound.

Dressed chickens were offered at 56 and 58 cents a pound.

Sweet potato sprouts sold at 60 cents per hundred while cabbage and tomato plants brought 10 and 15 cents per dozen. At one stand large tomato plants brought 20 cents per dozen.

Cut flowers were on sale at a number of stands and included quantities of peonies.

PRICE THREE CENTS

42 COUNTIANS ACCEPTED FOR ARMED SERVICE

Lee M. Hartman, Adams county prothonotary, and three county school teachers, George Porney, Gettysburg high; Donald Ulrich, Lincoln school, and George Reislinger, Biglerville high, were among the 42 western Adams county men accepted for service in the United States armed forces, Friday, following physical examination at Harrisburg.

Two men were accepted for the Marines, thirteen for the Navy, 26 for the Army and one for the Coast Guard following examination of the contingent sent under the June call of the Gettysburg Selective Service board.

Seven of the men were volunteers, two of them fathers of children born prior to Pearl Harbor. Most of the men were married, the first large contingent of married men to be sent by the Gettysburg board. The remainder were mostly 18 year olds, recent graduates of county high schools.

Some Volunteers

Both men selected for the Marines, Donald James Cole, 33 North Stratton street, and Robert Watkins Troxell, Fairfield R. 1, were volunteers. Prothonotary Hartman is a volunteer officer candidate. Edgar Cornelius Little, 136 Carlisle street, one of the fathers selected and Joseph Albert Marsden, 328 South Washington street, both of the Navy, and Joseph Michael Weimer, 135 Chambersburg street, the other father accepted, and John William Roth, 220 South Stratton street, were also volunteers.

Prof. Reislinger was named acting corporal for the Army contingent while William Sylvester Carter, Gettysburg R. 1, was selected as acting corporal for the colored youths selected for service in the Army.

Acting Official

Officials at the court house today were not clear as to what disposition will be made of the office of prothonotary. In the meantime Miss Edna Eicholtz, deputy prothonotary, is carrying on as acting prothonotary.

Officials at the draft board today said no call would be made next month, as far as is known, of married men with children. However a number of married men with children have been called for physical examination prior to reclassification.

The list of men accepted Friday includes:

MARINES

Donald James Cole, 33 North Stratton street.

NAVY

Joseph A. Marsden, 328 South Washington street.

WARDENS LEARN ABOUT AIR RAID TEST RULINGS

Official OCD answers to two problems posed by Gettysburg air raid wardens during the recent blackout test were presented Friday evening at the final regular meeting of the Gettysburg Council of Defense until next September.

The official all-clear signal is given by radio and persons who hear the signal may turn on lights in their homes despite the fact that the all-clear has not been sounded here and street lights have not been turned on.

Car owners may drive with lights on low beam during the blue signals of a blackout; drivers do not have to turn lights down to dimmers in order to drive.

Those answers were announced following confusion among wardens during the last blackout when some wardens asked people to turn out lights after they had said they had heard the all clear by radio and others had forced drivers during the blue signals to drive with lights on dimmers.

Officials of the local council of defense explained that there is some time lag between the reception of signals at Harrisburg and the time they are carried out here. Sometimes it takes as much as four minutes for calls to be sent from Harrisburg, received in the county and distributed to all sections of the county, they explained.

"Target Lights," a motion picture showing proper methods of locating and arranging a blackout room, and the reasons for blackouts was presented.

Chairman Winebrenner presided with about 60 wardens present.

Red Cross Workers Seek Electric Fans

Electric fans cannot be bought in Gettysburg stores so Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner, Red Cross production chairman, today appealed to residents of the town to give, lend or rent one or more fans—preferably large ones—to be used in the surgical dressing work room in the Legion building.

Volunteer workers have been perspiring in those rooms this week folding thousands of bandages for use by the Army and Navy on battlefronts all over the world. Mrs. Winebrenner says electric fans will help make the workrooms more comfortable.

Work schedules have not been interrupted by the heat wave. Volunteers will be working there this afternoon and Sunday afternoon and every afternoon next week, she said.

DAR SELECTS DELEGATES TO STATE SESSION

Members of the Gettysburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at their June meeting, Friday afternoon, heard reports on the recent sessions of the 52nd Continental Congress of the national DAR at Cincinnati and elected 10 delegates and 10 alternates to represent the chapter at the annual meeting of the state DAR at Wilkes-Barre in October.

Mrs. R. S. Saby, the chapter regent, presided at the meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Albert A. Partner, East Middle street.

The following were selected as delegates to the Wilkes-Barre sessions: Mrs. Saby, Mrs. H. D. Sheppard, Mrs. M. K. Eckert, Miss Elizabeth Woods, Mrs. Walter H. Danforth, Mrs. C. E. Bilheimer, Mrs. Edgar L. Deardorff, Mrs. J. R. Riden, Mrs. G. W. Lefever and Mrs. Raymond F. Topper.

Reports on Congress

The alternate delegates are: Miss Alice Black, Mrs. John D. Lippy, Sr., Mrs. John A. Mumper, Mrs. O. H. Benson, Mrs. Partner, Miss Grace Sachs, Mrs. C. Ross Shuman, Mrs. Roy E. Zinn, Mrs. A. Z. Rodgers and Miss Edna Zinn.

Written reports on the Continental Congress at Cincinnati were read by Mrs. Shuman and Mrs. Topper in the absence of Mrs. H. D. Sheppard, who represented the Gettysburg chapter at the Congress. Mrs. Sheppard was one of three women to be honored by election as honorary vice presidents general of the national DAR.

The reports stated that one of the war enterprises receiving special attention from the DAR has been the contribution of $76,759 for blood plasma work and for the purpose of establishing 15 blood receiving centers and the contribution of 32 mobile units and four station wagons to be used in the blood donor work of the Red Cross. Blood plasma equipment for Harrisburg alone cost the DAR $9,000. The national DAR gave $3,894 additional to other Red Cross activities.

Other Activities

The DAR chapters and members have pledged $33,150,646 in war bonds; gave $10,630 to the Marine hospital at Ellis Island; $22,825 for National Defense; over $3,000 for metal locators for use in determining the presence and position of bits of metal in wounded soldiers; gave $71,760 for schools in the mountains of the South; allocated $9,289 for Americanism projects, and $14,211 for historical research.

Other hostesses present Friday in addition to Mrs. Partner were Mrs. J. Kerr Lott and Miss Woods.

Cadets Leave For Advanced Training

The third contingent of Cadets from the 55th College Training Detachment at Gettysburg College left this morning for an advanced flying school after completing the prescribed course in academic instruction and flying here.

This week a small contingent of new cadets arrived in Gettysburg to replace the second group which left here a short time ago. Replacements for the group which left this morning will arrive here in the early future.

This morning's contingent will be fed aboard their train while en route to their new base where they will be classified on the grades they made here and then assigned for further training in the classification which they will be placed.

TABLET WILL HONOR AFRICAN MISSIONARIES

Plans for the placing of a stone tablet in memory of two Gettysburg Lutheran seminary graduates who were missionaries in Liberia, Africa, and who are buried there, were announced Friday at the sessions of the Deputation Fellowship School of Missions being held this week at the seminary.

The tablet will be made of two stones, one sent from Africa, the other to be selected from stones on the seminary campus. The marker, honoring the Rev. Jacob Hiram Straw and the Rev. William Robertson Miller, will be placed in the alcove of the Church of the Abiding Presence, on the seminary campus.

The Rev. Gordon Parker, a graduate of the seminary now in Africa, is head of the delegation of African missionaries who are arranging for the placing of the marker.

Sessions Close

The fellowship school came to a close this morning with the final meeting of the general and steering committees following breakfast. Friday's sessions included an address on the "Lutheran Missions in the Post War World," by the Rev. Dr. Ralph H. Long, executive director of the National Lutheran Council, held in the evening. Plenary sessions of the general and steering committees were held during the day and a round table on The Home Church during the afternoon.

Included among the talks on the home church were, "Organization for Foreign Missions" by the Rev. Dr. Paul J. Hoh; "The Home Church and the Missionary," the Rev. Dr. Paul P. Anspach; "The Home Church and the National Churches," the Rev. Dr. Roy M. Dunkelberger; "Support of Foreign Missions," Miss Nona M. Diehl, and "The Heart of the Foreign Mission Program—Local Congregations," the Rev. Dr. Harold Mumper.

Future Mission Plans

The "Million Dollar campaign" of the United Lutheran church for funds to be expended partly for services to soldiers and sailors and partly to support missions cut off by war from their home churches shows every indication of soon reaching its mark, the Rev. Mr. Long said.

Doctor Long also told the group that plans are underway to internationalize the missions in the near future so that missionaries from a number of countries will be working in a given mission field. In that way the church can prevent recurrence of events during the present war when an entire group of missionaries was forced to leave a mission field because the missionaries, all of one nationality, were considered enemies of the country in which they worked.

To Go to Liberia

Plans for establishment of study groups in each of the 4,046 congregations of the American Lutheran church were discussed with the representatives of 30 of the 32 synods present told to set up the schools in each of their own synods. Missionaries will teach the schools.

Dr. Edward Moll, general secretary of the board of foreign missions and the Rev. Luther W. Slifer, Gettysburg, will leave within two weeks for British Guiana, it was announced. They will attend the 200th anniversary celebration of the Lutheran church there.

Missionaries still are able to enter the foreign countries under control of Allied armies, it was announced. Three missionaries will leave shortly for Liberia, it was stated.

ROME JAMMED WITH MILLION MORE PERSONS

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Eluding a sky trap set by the Germans, Prime Minister Churchill flew back to London today and immediately called his war cabinet and military chiefs to No. 10 Downing street—possibly to chart final details for the "zero hour" of an Allied invasion of Europe.

Coincident with Churchill's homecoming, invasion talk reached its highest pitch in London newspapers, and the Rome radio nervously declared: "The attack is coming."

While the Italian radio called upon the garrison at bomb-battered Pantelleria to "stand firm" against any Allied landing, dispatches from Rome told of thousands of refugees fleeing northward from Sicily and Sardinia—ignoring decrees for them to remain at home.

Rome Is Jammed

The Rome correspondent of the Swiss Tribune De Geneve said the population of Rome had skyrocketed to 2,500,000, a million more than the census figure of a few months ago, and described Messina, Palermo, Trapani and Cagliari as scenes of fire-blackened devastation. The great port of Naples was likewise pictured as laid in ruins.

Along with renewed assaults on Italy's island outposts in the Mediterranean, U. S. bombers from the Middle East pounded the Grottaglie airdrome in southern Italy in two waves yesterday, it was announced. Big Liberators plastered the airdrome with nearly 15 tons of explosives, setting huge fires among hangars and administration buildings. All returned safely.

At the same time, Lieut.-Gen. Carl A. Spaatz' airmen inflicted fresh havoc on the "Italian Gibraltar" at Pantelleria, bombed Sicily and struck at Catanzaro on the sole of the Italian boot, the most easterly point of Italy yet attacked from northwest Africa.

On Other Fronts

Mediterranean—Allied warplanes again blast Pantelleria, Sicily and Axis shipping in Aegean sea; Rome reports two Allied raids near Taranto Naval base on Italian mainland; Swiss dispatches from Italy say many Italian cities are now "heaps of ruins."

Balkans—Bulgarian army newspapers say 20 Allied divisions massed for imminent invasion of Greece and Balkans via Crete; Greek guerrillas advance on Italian army corps headquarters after beating Italians in 15-day battle.

Argentina—Pro-ally Gen. Rawson takes over Argentine government after lightning coup against President Castillo's isolationist regime; United Nations capitals hail stroke as blow for Axis.

Russia—Red armies crush sharp German attacks on Donets river and Sevsk fronts; Moscow says 520 Soviet bombers attack German base at Orel in heaviest aerial assault of spring campaign.

Washington—Observers forecast gigantic air offensive against Japanese.

South Pacific—U. S. bombers drop 18 tons of explosives on Japanese airdromes in New Guinea, seven Allied raids fail to bring challenge from single Japanese plane.

Burma—RAF pounds Japanese in widespread attacks.

JOSEPH MARTIN ARRESTED

PAN-AMERICAN SOLIDARITY IS AIDED BY REVOLT

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The outstanding point of interest for the Americas in the Argentine revolt is whether it will make for Pan-American solidarity—especially as regards support of the Allied war effort and post-war reconstruction—and the way things look it seems likely that the new regime will have that tendency.

This revolution, like so many of the intriguing South American upheavals, conceals more than it reveals to the outside world. There are many points which aren't yet clear and we shouldn't jump to conclusions.

However, one remarks cautiously that the revolutionary government appears to be headed by solid citizens who are trying to escape from what they charge has been a reactionary attitude on the part of President Ramon S. Castillo not only towards foreign relations but domestic affairs. It's no secret, of course, that his insistence on maintaining diplomatic ties with the Axis—last of the Americas in this category—has made other Pan-American governments regard him coldly.

Undoubtedly foreign relations figure heavily in the calculations of the revolutionists. They appear to feel that their country has been playing an isolationist role of her own disadvantage.

In this connection I hazard the guess that the straw which broke the camel's back was the fact that this great country received no invitation to the recent United Nations conference dealing with post-war food problems. The Buenos Aires newspaper Critica on May 17 was outspoken in condemning Argentina's absence from this vital discussion.

Sees Boon for U.S.

Apart from the question of principle, involving Argentina's stand in the war, her financial and trade interests have been involved heavily. Also, because of her "neutrality" stand she hasn't been eligible for lease-lend aid, and has seen her neighbors improving their military position through this assistance.

Then there is, I believe, another important aspect of the revolt which doesn't appear on the surface. The revolution strikes me as being marked with the "leftist" swing which we are seeing in so many countries. By that I don't refer to a radical movement, but to a definite turn away from control by vested interests. Castillo's opponents claim that his government stood for those interests.

If the new government brings Argentina into the Allied fold it will be a boon for the United Nations. Ever since the war started the Argentine has been a hotbed of Axis spying.

Flood of Criticism

Raymond Lavalle, former Argentine consular-attaché in Tokyo, announced in New York on April 18 that he had resigned from his country's foreign service in protest against its neutrality. He declared "the Argentine has been the eyes and ears of the Japanese government in the western hemisphere."

Moreover, Germany and Italy cushioned the shock of the war blockade with a small but steady flow of money and materials from the Argentine. German controlled firms in the Argentine transmitted to Berlin every possible cent of profits through neutral points. Germany's neutral neighbors increased manyfold their purchases of Argentine products, and none disputed that many of these goods were relayed to the Axis countries.

One result of the revolution may be to release a flood of pent-up criticism of the Castillo government. Since December 16, 1941, he had ruled under a state of siege "of a preventive character," which forbade criticism of the government's foreign policy.

Father Of Twins

Philadelphia, June 5 (AP)—State Selective Service headquarters at Harrisburg will dictate the next move in his draft board's effort to get Philip F. Mancuso, 27-year-old father of twins, into the army.

CHURCHILL IN LONDON AFTER U.S. WAR TALKS

By EDWARD D. BALL

London, June 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill flew home today by way of North Africa from the Washington war council at which full accord was reached on a future Allied course on all fronts—an accord which was expected to be interpreted into action first with an invasion of Europe.

The Prime Minister, who saw Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in North Africa, landed at a British airfield at dawn and proceeded immediately to London to begin a series of conferences with members of his war cabinet.

In London Churchill plunged immediately into consultation with his cabinet colleagues and service chiefs and there was some speculation that his report to the House of Commons would not be made immediately but would await a fuller shaping, and it was suggested Parliament might extend its next series of sessions to hear him.

Escorted by Fighters

Not only was his plane escorted by fighter craft on the later stages of the journey but Churchill's flight was timed so the plane passed the Axis-controlled Bay of Biscay by night, with no moon.

He was accompanied by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who flew from Britain to join him in the North Africa talks, and by Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, chief of the Imperial General staff, who was with him at the Washington conferences with President Roosevelt and the British and American general staffs.

In North Africa Churchill also had what was described as a "most cordial" meeting with Gen. Charles De Gaulle and Gen. Henri Giraud, who earlier in the week settled their differences and set up a provisional French government under their joint leadership.

Churchill's homecoming coincided with mounting speculation that the Allied blow was about to fall upon Hitler's so-called European fortress.

ANTI-STRIKE BILL DUE FOR SENATE FIGHT

Washington, June 5 (AP)—Stiff anti-strike legislation aimed primarily at leaders of the coal mine strike was headed today for what Capitol Hill expected to be a teeth-pulling sitting before a Senate-House conference committee.

Thumped through the House by a 231 to 141 vote yesterday just an hour before the executive committee of the United Mine Workers ordered striking miners back to work, the legislation now faces the prospect of being sharply modified before it finally goes to the White House.

Senate conferees appointed yesterday were expected to meet Monday with a House conference group to tone it down.

As passed by the House, the bill carried a much-debated section under which a union leader instigating, directing or financing a walk-out in a government-operated industry such as the coal mines could be fined $5,000 and sent to jail for a year.

But at the time of passage, the House was unaware of the turn in the coal strike and as soon as it became known several influential members started a drive to have the section deleted on the ground there no longer was any need for it.

There were some other provisions, too, which a Senate with a conservative record on labor legislation is expected to frown upon.

Besides prescribing penalties for directing or instigating a strike, the bill would:

Outlaw strikes in government-operated industries, but protect the right of an individual worker to quit his job or refuse to return to it.

Bar War Strikes

Bar strikes in other war industries until after 30-days notice and a secret ballot of workers under the direction of the Labor department. Require unions to file with the National Labor Relations board annual financial and membership statements, and prohibit them from contributing to political campaigns involving a federal office.

Give the War Labor board power to subpoena witnesses in labor disputes, to order maintenance of the status quo in a controversy for a period up to 60 days, and to issue closed shop or maintenance of membership orders.

For striking in violation of the 30-day notice or strike ballot sections, an individual would lose for one year his status under the national labor relations act and the protection he has under the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction act. Unions striking in violation of these provisions would lose the same rights as individuals.

Get Scholarships After War Service

Harrisburg, June 5 (AP)—A Justice department ruling assured college students with state scholarships that induction into the armed forces will not mean loss of the benefits. Acting on a request of Dr. Francis A. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, Attorney General James H. Duff said scholarships interrupted by the war can be resumed after the holders are discharged from military service.

Duff also ruled scholarship examinations can be taken by a student entering college before completing a full high school course "upon certification that he has completed in a satisfactory manner the first year of college work."

SCRANTON OFF ON NEW SPREE

(By The Associated Press)

Scranton's Eastern league-leading Red Sox, whose 17-victory streak was broken by Hartford Thursday, are back on the winning side—by the 12-inning, home run route.

With 11 scoreless innings behind and two out in the 12th at Hartford yesterday, Ben Steiner singled to centerfield and scored when Howerton slammed Johnny Burke's first pitch over right field fence for a 2-0 victory. The win was the fifth this season for Ollie Byers, and gave Scranton the odd game of the three-game series.

Springfield won its first double bill in more than a year, defeating Wilkes-Barre Barons, 6-2 and 1-0.

RELIEF COST RISES

Direct relief payments made to needy residents of Adams county during the week ended Friday showed an increase of $58.30 over those for the preceding week, according to figures announced today by the office of the state treasurer.

Payments for the week totaled $371.20 which was $42.30 more than those for the comparable week of last year.

COAL MINERS RESUME WORK EARLY MONDAY

Washington, June 5 (AP)—The United Mine Workers' leadership announced today that the authorization to resume work beginning on Monday is limited to the period ending on June 20.

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, June 5—Disaster on the home front, was averted today as John L. Lewis instructed his 500,000 striking coal miners to obey President Roosevelt and go back to work Monday morning.

Indications from the coal fields were that full production would be underway again the first of the week.

The president of the United Mine Workers reached his decision yesterday after the walkout which started Monday night had cost the nation 10,000,000 tons of coal, threatened vital steel production, and compelled the White House to shift its attention from battlefield strategy to this domestic crisis.

Raps Labor Board

"The miners and their leaders, as patriotic Americans, placed the law and the national interest above their own ungranted and long deferred claims for justice and equity," Lewis said in announcing the back-to-work decision.

The 63-year-old labor leader, central figure in countless struggles with management, government and union colleagues, took one more rap at the War Labor Board as he yielded to Mr. Roosevelt's command.

His announcement followed closely a telegram from Interior Secretary Ickes expecting that "you will direct the members of the United Mine Workers to return to work." Ickes has been operating the mines since May 1 when President Roosevelt ordered them taken over by the government.

Resume Negotiations

The solid fuels administrator (Ickes) is a duly constituted agent of the government and we desire to cooperate with him," said Lewis.

"We have the assurance of the President that as soon as the mine workers return, the disposition of the dispute will forthwith proceed."

The miners are demanding $2 a day more—representing what they say is payment for the amount of time they use travelling underground, the old portal-to-portal issue. The operators offered approximately 80 cents to $1. Lewis turned that down, then suggested a temporary agreement at $1.50 which the producers refused to accept.

STEEL COMPANY RE-INDICTED ON FRAUD CHARGES

Pittsburgh, June 5 (AP)—A federal grand jury probing charges that the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation furnished sub-specification steel to the government recessed today after indicting the company again yesterday—this time on charges of "falsely certifying tests of steel" supplied the Maritime commission, Navy, and the Treasury.

The indictments, which numbered 47 counts, also charged the corporation and Lawrence H. Dahl, superintendent of its Irvin works at Dravosburg, Pa., with "a conspiracy to defraud the government by falsifying tests and destroying test records."

J. L. Perry, president of the company, declared:

Predict Exoneration

"We are confident that when Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation is afforded the opportunity to present in court the full facts in this matter, the outcome will be complete exoneration."

The indictments alleged that "frequently (between Jan. 1, 1942, and March 16, 1943) tests were not actually taken but in such case a control test report was prepared which set forth wholly fictitious results designed to meet specifications."

One indictment charged the company with "concealing and covering up material facts . . . and the making and using of false and fictitious documents and representations and destroying records of Carnegie-Illinois from which said falsities might be detected."

The grand jury named 10 Irvin works employees as "co-conspirators" but they were not indicted and will not be defendants.

One week ago the same grand jury indicted the steel firm on a charge of "concealing and destroying tests of steel plate."

No date was set by the court for re-convening the jury, which began its investigation April 12.

In Memoriam

Oil City, Pa., June 5 (AP)—When the fire bells tapped out 1-8-9-2 at noon today, they turned history back 51 years for a moment in memory of 69 persons who died in Oil City's greatest fire.

The tragedy followed a month of heavy rains. Swollen Oil creek was coated with crude and fumes rose from its banks.

The gas ignited in a series of explosions that shook the valley and turned it into a death-trap. Flames leaped from the water, consuming much of the city. Hundreds fled to the hills to escape death.

Cooper Hurls Second Straight One-Hit Shutout; Tigers Take Second Place

PIRATES SNARE 5TH STRAIGHT; INDIANS WIN

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

A few weeks earlier in this baseball season, St. Louis fans were audibly worried about the report that Mort Cooper had a sore arm.

Their world champions were trailing the hated Brooklyn Dodgers in the National league race. Cooper had taken a couple of sound shell-lacking and the Cardinals customers figured that there wasn't much hope without the full-time services of the big fellow who won 22 games and lost only seven during last year's pennant chase.

Well, the Cards still are second by a half game, but if Cooper still has a sore arm, Manager Billy Southworth probably wishes that all his other pitchers would go out and get one just like it.

For big Mort pitched his second successive one-hit game last night to beat the Phillies, 5 to 0. He had done the same stunt against Brooklyn Monday. Mort didn't allow a hit until Jimmy Wasdell singled in the eighth, he gave no walks and he whiffed five.

Dodgers Slug Hard
The only reason the Cards remained in second place after that showing was that the pace-setting Dodgers had decided to go on a hitting spree in the afternoon. Making up for several weak performances at the plate, the Dodgers drove Paul Derringer to cover with a seven-run first inning and went on to pile up 23 hits for an 18 to 2 triumph over the last-place Chicago Cubs.

Meanwhile, winning streaks carried the Pittsburgh Pirates into third place in the National league and the Detroit Tigers into second in the American.

The bold Buccaneers, hanging up their fifth consecutive victory and their eighth in nine games, just lasted to gain a 9 to 8 decision over the New York Giants before a night crowd of 14,120.

The ultimate winning run came in the eighth inning when Vince DiMaggio, who hit a three-run homer in the fourth, scooted all the way home from first on a passed ball.

Senators Bow
The Tigers' fourth straight triumph was a 2-1 decision over the Senators before 14,800 Washington fans.

The Yanks won out on Joe Gordon's tenth-inning homer after Vernon Stephens, returning to the St. Louis lineup for about 10 days before reporting to his draft board for a final physical examination, twice hit for the circuit and accounted for all the Browns' runs.

The biggest floodlight crowd of all, 18,894, turned out at Philadelphia to see Jesse Flores lose his second game after seven straight victories as the Cleveland Indians pulled out a 3-2 decision over the Athletics. Ray Mack's triple, scoring the already-traded Otto Denning, was the decisive blow in the eighth inning.

The Chicago White Sox, scoring all their runs in the first inning on two of their four hits off Lou Lucier, whipped the Boston Red Sox, 4-3, in the other afternoon contest.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 5 (AP)—Ship-shape and Navy fashion: At the Georgia Pre-Flight school they've put in a few new football rules that the boys seem to like.

Instead of four quarters, regimental games are played in two halves and play is resumed after the intermission at the spot and down where the first half ended.

Entire games are played without time out and they say that those games without any delays are really something to watch. . . . While football is the No. 1 sport for the cadets at Athens (they play a regimental championship game every two weeks) they haven't entirely forgotten about baseball. When the Atlanta Constitution inadvertently omitted the Dodgers in printing the standings, Lieut. (JG) Jim Decker promptly came in with the time-honored query: "Is Brooklyn still in the league?"

SECRET PRACTICE

Just before the Giants-Pirates game Thursday, a New York baseball scribe wandered into the Pittsburgh dressing room, where Manager Frank Frisch detected him looking at a blackboard chart telling just how to pitch to each Giant batter.

"Hey, you," roared Onkle Franz, "do you think I want you to go back and tell those fellows what their weaknesses are? Some of them don't know yet what they can't hit."

SCRAP COLLECTION

Will Harridge, the American league prexy, says he can't understand what has happened to Saturday baseball in recent years. It used to be that Saturday crowds were second only to Sunday's but they've dropped off until they are just like any other week day. . . . Incidentally, Harridge figures the week-day gatherings will pick up as soon as the weather settles down and the teams start playing off those 40-odd doubleheaders that have piled up.

Although the record books show only about 150 fights for Chalky Wright, the Chalk says his mother, who never has seen him fight, has kept records ever since he started and now has more than 300 listed. . . . Although West Virginia U. has lost all but three of last season's 54-player squad and three-fifths of its coaching staff, the Mountaineers are going ahead with plans to play next fall.

Ensign Dee Chapman, former Brigham Young quarterback, writing to Les Goates of the Salt Lake Desert News: "You little realize back there on the job what it means to the men in the service to follow athletic games through their home newspapers. COUNT FLEET, WHIRLAWAY ON TODAY'S CARD

By SID FEDER

New York, June 5 (AP)—Racing's glamor boys—Count Fleet and Whirlaway—strut their stuff in a doubleheader at Belmont park today that threatens the brand new world betting record.

The Count, already the winner of the derby, preakness and withers, is going to try to become the sixth triple crown champion by adding the Belmont stakes to his Kentucky and Maryland triumphs—and he figures to be a cinch to do it against the two so-so steppers—Fairy Man-hurst and Deseronto—entered against him.

He'll also be out to boost his bankroll over the quarter-million mark with the Belmont's top take of approximately $38,000. The Fleet already has earned $214,960.

Whirlly, making his first start since incurring a leg six months ago in New Orleans, comes back in the Henry of Navarre handicap, a six-furlong $5,000 dash he won two years ago. If he can make that win stick this time, little Mr. Big Tail will raise his record bank account to about $665,000.

But he has a tough haul this trip, especially as he will be packing 16 pounds and will be giving away up to 26 pounds to some in the field of 13, including his stable mate Sun Again; Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's spring ace, Doubldrab and Mrs. T. D. Grimes' Speedy With Regards. In addition, the three-quarter mile route hardly gives him time to throw his distance running legs into high.

BLUE ROCKS IN 3-GAME SWEEP

(By The Associated Press)

The Wilmington Blue Rocks returned home today with a three game lead over the Hagerstown Owls, after sweeping a series that began with the two teams tied for first place in the Interstate league.

The Owls made it 11 errors in two nights by committing five last night as they went down to defeat, 8 to 5. Two of them accounted for a pair of Wilmington runs in the first inning, and two more let across what proved to be the winning run in the eighth. Rullo of the Rocks and Davis of the Owls hit home runs.

Another series sweep was recorded at York, where the White Roses made it three in a row over last place Allentown by a score of 15 to 8. The game, which lasted two hours and a half, was played under protest when a home run by Bucha, of the Fleetwings, who batted out of turn was ruled out by the umpires. Lefty George, 56-year-old pitcher, came in to retire the last Allentown batter after the Fleetwings rallied for six runs in the last two innings.

At Lancaster, the Trenton Packers salvaged the final game of their series with the Red Roses by a score of 8 to 3. The Packers belted out 14 hits, including two home runs by Stan Shubilla and one by Prith.

STATE EYEING GARRETT FUND

Harrisburg, June 5 (AP) — A speedy conclusion of the world-wide scramble for the $20,000,000 snuff fortune of Mrs. Henrietta Schaefer Garrett of Philadelphia is predicted by Attorney General James H. Duff as a result of a new Pennsylvania law banning new claims against the estate after six months.

A second law signed by Governor Martin also enables the commonwealth to collect an 80 per cent property tax on estates not disposed of by wills and remaining unsettled after seven years. A retroactive clause applies it to the Garrett fortune.

"After six months for filing claims," commented Duff on the state's plans, "we will proceed to collect the state part of the estate (estimated at $16,000,000). It will certainly have a tendency to bring the whole thing to a speedier conclusion."

More than 26,000 persons from every state in the union and 29 foreign countries have entered claims to the fortune of the woman who died in 1930—childless and without known heirs. Her will made bequests totalling only $62,500.

Newark, N. J., June 5 (AP)—

The budget of the average American family is due for an overhauling by the end of this year, when, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau says, each family should be investing one-fourth of its income in war savings bonds if it is to carry its share of the war's financial burden.

Jimmy Tygh Now In West Coast Hospital

Philadelphia, June 5 (AP)—Marine Private Jimmy Tygh, Philadelphia lightweight boxer who once was reported missing in the South Pacific, is undergoing treatment for malaria in a west coast hospital, he telephoned his parents yesterday.

Tygh contracted the disease in the action that made a hero of Sergeant Barney Ross. He was reported missing afterward, but two months later cabled his parents that he was being treated in an Australian hospital.

QUIT SERVICE

Harrisburg, June 5 (AP)—Discontinuation of service to five subscribers in Delaware township, Mercer county, by the Pymatuning Independent Telephone company was authorized today by the Public Utility commission.

MISSING FLIER EX-TRACK STAR

Los Angeles, June 5 (AP)—Lt.

Louis Zamperini, national collegiate mile champion runner who almost caused an international incident by pulling down a Nazi flag in Berlin in 1936 and who expressed a desire to pay a return visit to Germany as an army air forces bombardier, is reported missing in the South Pacific.

"Now I would like to return and bomb Berlin," he declared after participating in his first combat flight during the United States army air forces raid on Wake island last December 24. He received the air medal for his part in that flight, during which he bombed a runway and bunkers on Wake.

"Nobody was scared," he said after his return. "I've been scared more before a race against Cunningham, Venzke and Fenske than I was that night."

Since his baptism of fire, Zamperini had reported in letters home that his plane was badly shot up at times. His mother, Mrs. Anthony Zamperini of nearby Torrance, was notified yesterday that the 25-year-old bombardier had been missing since May 27.

Zamperini first attracted attention in the distance event in 1934, when he ran the mile in 4 minutes, 21.3 seconds for a new world's interscholastic record. As a member of the University of Southern California track team, Zamperini twice won the NCAA mile run, in 1938 setting the present record of 4 minutes, 8.3 seconds at Minneapolis.

BROKEN COMMANDMENT

Indianapolis (AP)—Mrs. John O'Connell told police her purse containing $70 had been stolen. Where? Police wanted to know. In church, she said.

Moultrie, Ga. (AP)—Transportation difficulties mean nothing to Ben Galloway, sophomore at Tulane University Medical school. He rode a bicycle from New Orleans to Moultrie, a distance of 570 miles. The trip took four days.

PRECIOUS FOOD

Bridgeport, Conn. (AP)—Bobby Lombard, 6, gulped, and it's a good thing he didn't swallow, when his teeth grated on a foreign object while he was eating applesauce. It was a $500 diamond which his mother had lost three days before from her ring.

WILL QUIZ ALL STATE SURPLUS "FUN DRIVERS" OVER WEEK-END

Philadelphia, June 5 (AP)—It will be a clever cheat who slips through the OPA's pleasure driving sieve lines around Philadelphia this week-end.

It'll be quite a feat, in fact, to drive around the block inside the city without being asked "how come?" by an OPA agent or a policeman.

"The city will be surrounded by an effective cordon, and no one will slip through," said a spokesman for the OPA.

Here's how it will work: Every main highway, bridge and ferry in the five-county metropolitan area will be watched.

Mobile squads will move from place to place inside the city, stopping cars.

To Snare Dodgers
Agents will infiltrate into the side streets to snare those who turn the corner when they see a line of cars stopped.

All cars driven by men in uniform will be checked to make certain that service men are not acting as chauffeurs for cheaters—a new racket uncovered here.

Trucks will be stopped as a check on reports to the OPA that they are being used illegally to haul families and household goods to resorts.

The week-end dragnet will have a follow-up next week, when flying squads of agents and police will descend upon golf courses, baseball parks, dance halls, amusement parks, bowling alleys, movies, night clubs and other pleasure spots and city drivers of all cars found parked in their vicinities.

Scarce gives the coffee time to cool.

Today's Talk
By George Matthew Adams

THE UNSUNG AND NEGLECTED

I have just finished reading one of the most absorbing historical novels that I have ever read. I refer to Howard Fast's book: "Citizen Tom Paine." Paine was an Englishman who came to America at the suggestion of Benjamin Franklin. Hardly had he landed before he plunged into the job of writing pamphlets to arouse the Colonists to their opportunity for freedom.

Paine was one of the first of propagandists. He it was, who in his famous pamphlet "The Crisis," stated that "These are the times that try men's souls." In America, England and France, his theme was the same—"where freedom was not there was his home." Yet so intolerant were those about him in his old age that no one today knows where his bones lie. "Perhaps," says the novelist Fast, "that is best, for the world was his village."

There was no more sincere and clarifying voice in all the world, at the close of the eighteenth century and the opening of the nineteenth, than the ringing voice of Tom Paine. Yet he never received his just reward!

Roger Williams, "the first American apostle of religious liberty" was an outcast from Massachusetts. Driven from one place to another he found refuge in what is now Rhode Island. He founded the city of Providence, thus named "in recognition of God's gracious kindness and watchful care over them, and finally bringing them safely out of the land of persecution." Even the grave of this great man is little known, if indeed where it is now marked is authentic. And no portrait of him exists, so that when his statue was erected it was necessary to imagine what he looked like!

In 1936 the United States government honored Roger Williams on a 3-cent stamp by reproducing a picture of his statue, which now stands in Providence, celebrating the 300th anniversary of the founding of Rhode Island.

To this day I believe that the actual grave of the mother of Abraham Lincoln is still unknown, although the approximate spot is now marked. People visiting New York city should see the tiny Edgar Allen Poe home on the Grand Concourse, now known as Poe Park.
Here it was that he wrote and suffered, and here it was that his first wife died.

The great of this earth are all too often left unsung and neglected.
John Howard Payne, he who wrote the immortal "Home, Sweet Home," had none that he could call his own!

Former Governor Fisher Lauds Memory of Soldier Dead: In recounting the heroism and bravery of the men in blue, former Governor Fisher paid glowing tribute to the men who fought for the Confederacy.

John D. Keith, of Gettysburg, presided at the exercises at the rostrum after being presented by the Rev. L. B. Hafer, chairman of the Sons of Union Veterans' committee, in charge of arrangements.

Lincoln's Gettysburg address was read by Dr. M. Coover, Seminary street. The following bands participated in the services: Gettysburg Boys' band, American Legion post band of Gettysburg and the York Springs band.

Doctor Henry Stewart was chief marshal of the parade and John E. Slaybaugh and William Timmins were his aides.

Former Governor Fisher arrived from his home in Indiana about mid-forenoon and went to the home of Attorney and Mrs. John D. Keith, Carlisle street.

The committee in charge of the Memorial Day exercises comprised the Rev. Mr. Hafer, Charles F. Bodley, Judge Donald P. McPherson,
William L. Meals, Esq. and G.
Harry Roth.

indefinite.

president of the Fiohn's cemetery association, outlined the aims and objects of the organization.

Home Quarantined: The home of Mrs. Morana Fowler, West High

antine. A son, Hoke Fowler, aged 6, is ill with whooping cough.

2 Local Boys Get Hi Honors: Two Gettysburg boys, Joseph L. Rosensteel and Francis Bowling carried off honors at commencement exercises at Mt. St. Mary's high school Sunday evening.

Rosensteel was valedictorian and won highest honors in the classical course, while Bowling carried off honors in the scientific course.

Army Camp to Open June 10 on Battleground: Uncle Sam's reforestation camp of 200 jobless recruits will be pitched in Pitzer's Woods, located

Dam, along the Emmitsburg road.

Riding with Russell

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL, Member S. A. E.

One stop sign you can meet without even an "A" book is a kick in the shins from the wife.

Such interesting letters come to my desk from motorists all over the Americas it has often occurred to me that it might be a good idea to let them take over the column some week and have their say on a number of topics that are of vital interest to all of us who motor these war days. It now looks as if I would have to yield to the desire
So here goes:

Pvt. H. R. is in the Army now and probably will go a long way in one of the mechanical services because of his keen interest in cars.
He is particularly interested in front wheel drive and looks forward to the day when he can rig up something with an unusual coupling between engine and the final drive.

That seems to stump him because he has come back for further information. In reply I am telling him that I mean an hydraulic torque converter, something that does the whole job of coupling and gearing automatically and by means of fluid. It's quite different from fluid drive as we know it on some of the production cars.

Those Pesky Regulators
Many of you have probably had experiences similar to those which are slowly driving T. E. A. to a nervous breakdown. He just can't see any reason for complicating cars with the cockeyed voltage and current regulators which are giving so much trouble. He speaks glowingly of a 1935 car, which ran three years with the original battery. "It was all so simple then," he writes.

"Generator with adjustable brush and a little cut-out box on top and an ammeter on the dash. I could feel fairly certain of the 'balance of power' under the hood at all times. But no, the engineers had to make things complicated; put us at the mercy of those robot testing machines. In other words, multiply the original uncertainty
by another."

I've checked with a company that makes regulators and they assure me that in many cases electrical trouble has nothing to do with this unit, although it may seem to be involved. Too often the trouble is due to a loose connection somewhere along the circuit, at the ammeter or at the battery. One car manufacturer warns specifically against trying to adjust regulators, saying that it is best to replace them completely when tests show that they actually are defective. It isn't as easy as all that, however, because the testing requires consideration of the regulator's temperature. That necessitates a thermometer and knowledge as to what parts of the regulator to treat to a temperature check. Another thing that is important in regulator practice is to replace with one designed especially for the particular make and model of car. There appears to be no satisfactory universal type of regulator.

Thanks for the idea
From H. N. B. comes a suggestion that may be worth looking into if the car's radio suddenly takes to magnifying motor interference. He says that this internal static often can be traced to a cracked or burned rotor in the distributor. Corroded bonding straps will also cause high resistance and consequent interference.

In rather a bad mood one reader upbraid me because somewhere in these chats about cars I mentioned the fact that I never did my own speedometer work. How then could I talk about it intelligently?
What right had I to offer advice on speedometers when I washed my hands of the actual work?

That was to be expected, especially from motorists who are not abreast of the great growth of specializing in the motor field. It is seldom that even the largest service stations attempt to do their own speedometer repairs, and when the radiator needs boiling out it is taken off and sent over to the nearest specialist in cooling. The same with shock absorber service. These service men appreciate that it takes special equipment and particular skill to do certain jobs. Even your best doctor may send you to someone else for an X-ray or a metabolism test.
Same with motors.

Flock of Savers
Here are, briefly, some of the gas saving suggestions made to me by a few of the people who are making every drop count:

"Please tell your readers that they can save gas by starting the engine by letting the car coast in gear whenever it is headed down a grade.
Use high gear. The engine will start if the car is running only 5 miles an hour."

"Don't park the car in the hot sun. Heat will cause rapid evaporation. That is why mileage usually is poor in hot climates."

"Ask your readers if they have ever stopped to realize how much gas is wasted backing up? There's a lot of unnecessary backing in parking, maneuvering that could be eliminated by better selection of space."

"I have read your column with keen interest ever since acquiring a car," writes P. D. T. in a recent letter. "If you have not already written an article on the care of cars under present restrictions, I believe your readers would be interested in such instructions, telling how to care for cars that have to be put in dead storage, or one that is just used once in a while."

Thanks for the vote. I have been hammering away at the idea, but it is such a timely subject no one can say too much about it. I think what we must face squarely is that the rationed car needs more thought and care than ever before because we are giving it the worst kind of driving. Dead storage becomes a close cousin to dead loss. Cars can't be "saved" in the sense of putting them away. They must be constantly watched, exercised, protected. Anyone who is forced to lay up a car should engage someone to work the clutch and crank over the engine once a week, injecting oil

Make Knives Out Of Files For U.S.

Grand Junction, Colo., June 5 (AP)—The American Legion and Grand Junction citizens are pounding files into razor-sharp knives for American jungle fighters.

B. L. Hinkle, retired carpenter of Paonito, Colo., heard that soldiers and marines fighting in Pacific islands needed sharp strong knives to meet the Japs at close quarters.

There was a shortage of the knives—made of fine, tough steel—that were suitable. Hinkle recalled that files—the kind carpenters and machinists use—contain that kind of metal. He suggested that the American Legion collect old files in this state, ship them to Grand Junction, and organize a staff to pound them into knives.

Marion Yale, a tool maker who had made fine steel hunting knives as a hobby, volunteered as an instructor to teach the Legionnaires the art of fine steel tempering and molding.

In addition the Grand Junction vocational education school was turned over to the project and both men and women were trained for a portion of the work.

Soon from three to 15 volunteers were working nightly, turning out blades and handles. They now are turning out about six every hour.

Harrisburg, June 5 (AP)—Governor Martin vetoed legislation providing $100,000 for acquisition of lands, erection of new buildings and service systems at the Soldiers Orphans School, Scotland, Franklin county, declaring expenditure of state funds during the war emergency should be limited to matters essential for conduct of state government.

Farewell to Shimmy

I don't know whether H. V. is still on this troubled earth but some years ago he was badly puzzled over a serious shimmy in his new car. He went to all the dealers for this make in his territory, consulted with factory engineers and got every bit of advice he could on the subject. In desperation he decided to spend his vacation on a trip that would enable me to take a look at the car. When he arrived I took him and his car to the nearest official service station for the make of car he drove and it was not long before we discovered that the dash of his car was cracked. This was secured by a shimmy had completely vanished. H. V. went on his way for the best vacation ever.

It simply goes to show that it pays to get just one more opinion of any problem that has you stumped.

In the Motor Mail

Q. When a leak developed in one of the front brakes I bought a replacement kit and put it in. The brakes worked fine after bleeding the line and refilling the supply tank, but a week later squeaks developed. What would cause this? The lining is in good condition. S. S.

A. One of the front brake's backing plate may be bent or there may be a twisted shoe. It is also possible that there may be some dirt embedded in the lining of one of the shoes.

Q. I was alarmed when the engine temperature gauge started registering dangerous overheating, but when I stopped the car I found that the radiator was quite cool. The gauge stays at the danger point even when the engine is just being started. Wm. N. G.

Q. I have a magneto that was produced as an accessory for a six-cylinder engine. Can I use this with a four-cylinder motor? The magneto has the timer built into the base. C. B.

A. This won't work in a four-cylinder engine. For a Six the arm-ature and cam turn one and one-half turns to the crankshaft's once, while in a Four the armature and cam turn at the same speed as the crankshaft.

Q. There has been a drop in gasoline mileage in spite of warmer weather and everything I can do to the engine by way of service. Timing is right on the button. The mixture has been tested with an exhaust analyzer. I apply all the driv-

POINTS WORTH KNOWING

Those in need or will be in need of any electrical extensions such as hen houses, steer stables, dairy barns, etc., or equipment in any of these, should get in touch with their contractor as soon as possible in order that he may get the materials on hand as soon as possible.

Material is now being issued on an allotment basis and he must be able to distribute it throughout a quarter in order to get it all.

Wiring is still being limited to only what is essential and vital to the war effort.

One of the vital things is to have equipment safe and operating in full capacity.

Damaged wiring or fixtures should be replaced at the earliest opportunity.

Wires that sag so much that the wind will cause them to twist and overlap will cause plenty of trouble.

Broken wireholders cause added strain on wires that are liable to give way just when needed most.

Give your electrician and contractor a chance to plan his work most efficiently by giving him as much time as is possible. Report emergencies as soon as they occur. Do not wait until nine at night to report an emergency that occurred at nine in the morning.

Don't put pennies behind the fuses when one continues to blow out, that is unless you want to collect your fire insurance.

Chapter 1

A blinding flash of lightning, slicing through the dark, streaming torrent of rain, lit up the imposing stone mansion as Ann Harrington's taxi drew slowly up the drive. A terrible, rending clap of thunder which seemed to rock the car with its violence failed to prevent Ann from drawing an incredulous breath.

At first she thought it a slightly ominous omen that she should be taking over Terrence House in weather like this, but she mentally shrugged off the thought. This was hers, all hers.

The house rose three stories from the ground, its walls built of rough white rock quarried from the bluff that sloped down to the river behind it, its architecture distinctive and rugged like Augusta Terrence herself.

Grand Gussie, Ann's mother always called her. No one knew where she got the name but it was probable that Jeremiah Terrence himself invented it in an effort to find an affectionate term for the Rock of Gibraltar.

Now Grand Gussie was dead. Bert Renfrow wired Ann a week ago and she had come as soon as she could train a new girl to take her place in the rate office. As heiress to Terrence House she would never need a clerk's job again.

Ann paid the driver and scurried up onto the porch. She stared at the brass knocker. Over it hung a discreet sign reading, "Terrence Mineral Spring Hotel." That sign hadn't been there during Ann's childhood for the hot springs hadn't been discovered until a few years ago.

Then she went in and walked to the desk. Standing there, hesitant, she looked more like Alice entering Wonderland than the owner of Terrence House. She seemed younger than her nineteen years with rich brown eyes that had a way of appealing to you. As though clouded with dreams just floating to the surface. Her hair beneath the pin-cushion lay in silken coils to a length even with her resolute little chin.

"So it's you!" Sarah Townsley greeted her. Her yellow-green eyes held a cool challenge and she didn't waste a smile.

"I—I came as soon as I could," Ann said and was glad she could make it sound impersonal. She knew the nurse had always respected her. Now she seemed openly hostile. "Did you attend to—everything?"

"Everything!" Sarah's lips pressed out the word as though it encompassed far more than Ann's question implied.

"I suppose I'll occupy Mrs. Terrence's suite," said Ann.

"Mrs. Terrence's suite is already occupied," said Sarah, "by Jerry Lane's lawyer."

"Jerry Lane's lawyer? Who—who's Jerry Lane?"

Sarah lifted perfectly arched brows which matched her perfectly coiffured blonde hair. "You'll know soon enough," she said with evident relish. "He's sent his lawyer to take over Terrence House."

The suite on the third floor to which Ann was presently shown consisted of a small living room, an adjoining bedroom and a bath. Though it was on the back it had a nice view of the Flatte River. Standing a moment at the window Ann could see the water rolling along at the foot of the bluff while beyond rose the stacks of the new defense plant Grand Gussie had mentioned in her last letter. Between the river and the factory myriad lights twinkled through the rain. That would be the trailer camp where many of the workers lived.

But Ann's thoughts were not on the view. Her mind was whirling with questions about the unknown man who had sent a lawyer to take possession of her grandmother's house.

She turned to her bags, unpacked a silk jersey frock of flesh pink and slipped it on.

Then she was ready to have an understanding with this lawyer of Jerry Lane's.

She found him sitting at Grand Gussie's desk in the center of her office-living room, surrounded by an accumulation of feminine ware that only 70 collecting years could produce. Tender memories flooded over Ann as she saw the familiar array of miniature elephants on the what-not, the teakwood box on the table, the hand shaped vase with artificial roses in it, the dragon in a silver coil round Jeremiah's photograph.

But something was missing and in a minute Ann knew. It was the pink and gilt filigree cage and Matilda, the pet parrot.

"I—I'm Ann Harrington," she said instead.

"Yes. I know all about you." He was short and thick set. His small dark eyes were set too close together and he was smoking a fat cigar. "I'm telling you from the first that I've no concern in this case except to get what belongs to Jerry Lane."

"Perhaps you'd be good enough to explain."

"Yes. I represent the grandson of Mrs. Terrence's only brother." He knocked cigar ashes on Grand Gussie's Chinese rug.

"But I never heard my grandmother mention such a person."

"Probably not. She and her brother didn't exactly agree." He paused to clear his throat behind a stubby hand. "I believe they hadn't seen each other for years."

"Then I don't understand how this man can have any interest in Terrence House. My grandmother left it to me."

Mr. Baxton shrugged. "Did she give you that impression?"

"Impression? She told me a dozen times that it was to be mine, that she would leave it to me in her will."

The man fumbled with some papers on his desk. Finally he said, "But there is no will. We've searched thoroughly. Perhaps Mrs. Terrence intended to make one and didn't."

Intended? A cold wind of premonition blew across Ann's brain. Grand Gussie had been notorious—careless about details and though she had been shrewd enough to make a fortune she might, conceivably, have neglected to make a will. It wasn't impossible. That's what frightened Ann.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

A colorful, musical funfilm, Paramount's "Happy Go Lucky," is headed this way, due to arrive next Monday at the Majestic theatre with Mary Martin, Dick Powell, Betty Hutton, Eddie Bracken and Rudy Vallee among those present.

The picture tells the laugh-filled story of a fortune-hunting Miss (Mary Martin) who arrives at a resort island in the Caribbean on board a luxury cruiser and pretends to be the daughter of a millionaire. It's her idea that it's a lot easier to land a goldfish by using her own gold as bait. Unfortunately, her own gold doesn't last too long.

WEDNESDAY

Peck's bad boy of the movies—Henry Aldrich—is headed this way with a new set of misadventures which are reported to be funnier than any he—and his public—have yet lived through. They are set forth in Paramount's "Henry Aldrich Gets Glamour," which comes Wednesday to the Majestic theatre with Jimmy Lydon as Henry and Charles Smith, John Lital, Olive Blakeney, Diana Lynn, Frances Gifford and Vaughan Glaser.

THURSDAY

Murder, swift and ruthless, stalks the unruined calm of a public library. A guard is discovered lying crumpled on the floor! A priceless Shakespeare folio has disappeared! This is the beginning, abrupt and startling, of what preview critics hail as one of the season's most baffling mysteries, "Quiet Please, Murder," which plays Thursday at the Majestic theatre. George Sanders and Gail Patrick are featured as a suave, merciless pair whose methods are direct and deadly as the path of a bullet.

New Explosive For "Block Busters"

Perth Amboy, N. J., June 5 (AP)—A secret, new high explosive—with as an important component a sugary white substance formerly used in pharmaceutical blends—now is going into the deadly blockbuster bombs softening Axis Europe for an Allied invasion.

The component, Major General Charles T. Harris, Jr., commanding general of the Aberdeen, Maryland, proving grounds, disclosed Thursday, is hexamethentetramine, known industrially as hexamine.

Without hexamine, there would be no blockbusters of the present destructive efficiency, said General Harris.

"Eighteen months ago we had the will and not the means to strike down the Axis. Now we have both. * * * But I assure you, the hardest fighting and the greatest victories are still ahead. * * * Even as I speak, large offensive actions are in preparation."

McKeesport, Pa., June 5 (AP)—Attorney William H. Coleman, 71, one time congressman and former chairman of the Allegheny county Republican executive committee, died Thursday. He is a former McKeesport mayor and Allegheny county court clerk.
